About the FACULTY OF LAW

The Faculty of Law, The University of the West Indies was established in 1970, offering the flagship LLB undergraduate program, based on the English common law model, now indigenised. The full program began in Cave Hill and first year teaching for the LLB degree at the St. Augustine Campus, The University of the West Indies began in October, 1970. Currently The Mona, St. Augustine and Cave Hill Campuses all offer the LLB program. St. Augustine also offers the LLM and PhD postgraduate programs. At present there are approximately 420 students enrolled in the LLB program and approximately 45 postgraduate students at St. Augustine.

The Faculty of Law at St. Augustine offers a complete undergraduate programme in Law which is intended to provide a thorough grounding in the principles of Law for those undergraduate who read Law with the intention of practicing or those who intend to pursue taught or research graduate degrees.

The St. Augustine Faculty of Law has distinguished itself with innovative continuing legal education and Outreach initiatives, including several pioneering workshops catering to legal practitioners, other professionals and students, such as the Banking Law Workshop, the Oil & Gas Workshop and the Legislative Drafting Workshop. It is also the only Faculty of Law which has won donor grants, for example, the EU Faculty of Law, St Augustine Human Rights Project and the EDF Human Rights project.

SCHEME OF LEGAL EDUCATION

The first year of the LLB programme includes Foundation Courses in English, Caribbean Civilization, and Science, Medicine and Technology, in addition to eight (8) semester courses in Legal subjects.
