■ Security Awareness for Executives

Faculty of Social Sciences /Campus House Facilities

Monday April 22, 2013 | 9.00 a.m. - 4.00 p.m.

The need for Security Awareness training has grown far beyond the Chief Security Officer. The environment in which Executive Officers and Senior Managers operate continues to become more vulnerable due to escalating levels of crime in the society.

There is a need to adopt crime prevention strategies which will contribute to these Executives' safety and which will give them a better understanding of security practices, as this understanding will prove to be extremely important to their personal safety and the safety of their loved ones.

This programme was, therefore, designed to provide vital information on security awareness to Executive Officers and Senior Managers to ensure they are adequately equipped to treat with their personal and family safety.

Cost: TT$4,500
