MESSAGE FROM THE CAMPUS PRINCIPAL

I extend heartiest congratulations to the 2012 graduating class of the St. Augustine Campus of The University of the West Indies! From the outset, I must mention to you that you are graduating from our Campus in a very special year in the history of our nation, as Trinidad and Tobago celebrates 50 years of independence! Indeed a significant milestone for our country. We at the UWI St. Augustine Campus, having recently celebrated our own 50th anniversary, feel proud to have provided an outstanding contribution towards this milestone through our teaching, learning, innovation and research, but in particular through our distinctive UWI alumni. We have been producing leaders for various professions in our society.

Today, you too, are now joining our global network of outstanding alumni who have impacted the development of Trinidad and Tobago and the Caribbean region for over five decades. Yes, you are stepping out into a dynamic and challenging world, but I am confident that your time spent at the UWI has equipped you with the knowledge and skills to overcome any challenges you may encounter. Indeed, the lessons you have learned here and the experiences you have garnered, both academic and otherwise will stand you in good stead in the future.

Wherever your intellectual and professional pursuits take you, always remember to give back to your University, to your community, to your country, to your region, and to all those who have supported you throughout your time of study. In so doing, the UWI St. Augustine Campus will continue to grow and ensure that we provide a memorable UWI experience to the students that follow you.

As you graduate, in this, the year Trinidad and Tobago commemorates the golden jubilee of its independence, I urge you all to rededicate yourselves to the values and principles which have built this great nation. Values which remain embedded in our UWI philosophy such as integrity, honesty, tolerance, generosity, kindness towards others and caring for the less fortunate. Keep them at the centre of all that you do, both in your personal and professional life. In so doing, together we will build a smart and caring nation for future generations to inherit.

On behalf of the UWI St. Augustine Campus, and the wider regional University of the West Indies, I congratulate you on completing your course of studies and attaining your degree, diploma or certificate. We thank you for giving us the opportunity to be of service to you and to contribute to your development. As you enter the next chapter of your life, we extend best wishes to you all, having full confidence that as UWI graduates you will make a positive contribution to society!

PROFESSOR CLEMENT SANKAT

Pro Vice Chancellor & Campus Principal

MESSAGE FROM DIRECTOR THE STUDENT ADVISORY SERVICES

My Dear Students,

Student Advisory Services is pleased to present you with your copy of the St Augustine Yearbook, 2012. This book will act as a tool to keep you connected to your friends and colleagues locally, regionally and internationally. It is our hope that you will use it to maintain and establish networks and collaboration whether business or friendship through the region and beyond.

We at Student Advisory Services salute you for your individual achievements gained through dedication and hard work. It is our hope that the fruits of your studies shall be rewarding to yourselves and your families; that you shall put your knowledge at the service of society and community; and that with the help of your contributions the Caribbean region shall become a winning nation, steeped in science and learning.

I encourage you to see your graduation as a new beginning; a milestone on your journey as you answer some of life's most fundamental questions: "Who am I?, Where did I come from?, Why am I here?, and Where am I going?" ... I believe that answers to these questions come, in part, through spiritual understanding, personal reflection and meaningful interaction with others.

Consider that knowing who you are involves, in some ways, knowing who you are not. You, like your journey here, are unique, with a special purpose that you are being equipped to fulfill.

Again, congratulations may you represent well your alma mater in the workforce, in community, and in society with a mindset that has an understanding of the times in order to know what we ought to do.

Oplez!

DR. DEIRDRE CHARLES
Director

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN THE FACULTY OF SCIENCE & AGRICULTURE

The Faculty of Science and Agriculture (FSA) was the second largest Faculty at the St. Augustine Campus with a total enrolment of over 4200 students. As of August 2012 the FSA was demerged to form two new Faculties, the Faculty of Science and Technology (FST) and the Faculty of Food and Agriculture (FFA). The FST comprises five (5) departments including Life Sciences, Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics & Statistics and, Computing & Information Technology, while the FFA comprises three departments which are: Agricultural Economics & Extension, Food Production and the newly formed Department of Geography. This demerger came as a result of the need to better respond to the rapidly changing local, regional and global environments.

The previous FSA offered the most diverse set of programmes which allowed its students to pursue studies in the Pure and Applied Sciences, Agricultural Science, as well as the Social Sciences and Humanities. Through its teaching, research & development and outreach activities, the FSA provided the appropriate human resource requirements needed to transform the Caribbean region. The new Faculties, FST and FFA are committed to providing curricula that are current and which satisfy national and regional development objectives. The Faculties are also committed, through their research and development activities, to the creation of knowledge, finding solutions to problems and the transformation of intellectual capital into wealth creation. The Faculties are thus geared towards producing graduates, who would go out into the region and create employment, rather than seek employment.

The Faculties, as part of their ongoing commitment to ensure that their curriculum offerings are relevant and current, have introduced a number of new programmes/courses over the last year. For the FST this includes the B.Sc. Actuarial Science. The FST also plans to introduce in the 2013/2014 academic year, the B.Sc. Environmental Science and Technology, B.Sc. Biomedical Technology, as well as new majors in Electronics, Information and Communication Technology, and Statistics. The FFA plans to introduce a new B.Sc. Geography degree, to revise the B.Sc. (General Agriculture) degree and to develop a B.Sc. Agricultural Technology degree. The FST plans to introduce new M.Sc. programmes in 2013/2014. These are the M.Sc. Biotechnology, M.Sc. Renewable Energy Technology and the M.Sc. Medical Physics & Bioengineering.

Also, as a result of increased emphasis being placed on graduate studies, research and development in the Faculties, a number of multidisciplinary research clusters have been formed (with the aim of solving problems relevant to the region). Additionally, the Faculties continued to attract a significant portion of the competitive research funds from local, regional and international sources. The Faculties also continued to make significant contributions towards national/regional development through the varied public/professional services of its academic staff.

As Faculties, we are fully aware of the fact that our very survival and relevance depend upon our ability to provide you, our students, with the appropriate skills and competencies to enable you to respond to the demands of a rapidly changing global environment. As a consequence, we have provided you, during your stay here, with curricula that are appropriate, diverse and flexible. This we hope, coupled with the experience of a multicultural and enriching learning environment, will have better prepared you for the challenges that await you. As you continue your journey, you need to constantly upgrade your skills and competencies in a world that is constantly being flattened by advances in technology brought about by the knowledge economy, as you become lifelong learners. Our Faculties would only be too willing to be part of that re-tooling process.

The community of the Faculty of Science and Agriculture and now the two new Faculties of Science & Technology and Food & Agriculture are proud to have been part of your educational experience. We hope that we have played a significant part in making you critical thinkers and problem solvers, who will go on to provide meaningful leadership in society, and burn brightly the torch of UWI wherever you may be.

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN THE FACULTY OF ENGINEERING

On behalf of all staff of the Faculty of Engineering of The University of the West Indies let me welcome all new and returning students to the Faculty for the 2012/2013 Academic Year.

The Faculty of Engineering at UWI is the premier engineering faculty in the West Indies. It was formally opened in 1963, although teaching actually started a year earlier. Among the first students in that batch of 28 are such luminaries as Professor Emeritus Winston Mellowes who eventually lectured in the Department of Chemical Engineering for many years and Mr. Malcolm Jones who is highly recognised for his work in the Energy sector in Trinidad and Tobago. Significantly, much of the development of this faculty took place under Professor Emeritus Kenneth Julien, who pioneered the growth of the Point Lisas Industrial Estate and who now heads the University of Trinidad and Tobago and Professor Emeritus Maxwell Richards, currently President of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago. The Faculty of Engineering can therefore boast of a well established reputation of excellence and a significant role in the development of the Caribbean Region.

The Faculty of Engineering now offers 11 undergraduate programmes and 25 postgraduate programmes under these disciplines. Over 7,000 graduates have benefitted from these programmes over the years.

Every one of our undergraduate programmes is accredited, and has always been accredited, by internationally recognised professional engineering institutions and we are now embarking on an initiative of selectively accrediting our postgraduate programmes.

I would like to remind all students that the degree for which you are reading is but the first milestone on the road to becoming a professional engineer, surveyor, land valuator or geoscientist. You will not be formally recognised as a professional until you have gained substantial work experience and a bit of further learning beyond the BSc. As a professional engineer you would be responsible for peoples' lives, properties and investments. This is a great responsibility. As such, it is incumbent upon you to strive for a truly deep understanding of the material that is presented in your course of study. You will not have the time to do so in the world of work.

A great part of the success you achieve in this programme is dependent upon how you approach the challenge ahead of you. In particular, you need a sense of motivation and you need a plan. By and large, students who have really excelled in this programme and programmes elsewhere are those who were firm in their commitment in obtaining a good degree either for the sheer joy and reward of learning or because they were pretty sure that they wanted to start their careers as engineers. Most importantly, they do so because they acknowledge the absolute wisdom of striving for excellence in all that they do.

If you are one of the few students who is uncomfortable with your present programme of study it is strongly recommended that you apply for leave of absence and spend some time, a year or so, working in an engineering environment. While there, explore other areas of work – legal, administrative, human resources, laboratory work, sales etc. If, after that time, you are convinced that engineering is the career for you, then you can re-enter the programme, more likely than not with a higher level of motivation to succeed. If you choose otherwise, be mindful of the fact that many have very successfully switched paths either during or after a first degree. Indeed, Trinidad and Tobago now has a Chief Justice who has a first degree in engineering. You will find, as he did, that the time spent here will not be lost time but will serve you well in your future endeavours.

Once you are motivated to steer the course you should make every effort to plan your work. THEN you must work your plan. Manage your time well – as a rough guide you should spend the same time you spend in class or in the labs in self study. Be prepared to change your plan if it is not working. Moreover, use all the resources available to you – consult with lecturers and other course support staff. Resist the trap of allowing conflicts in personalities to block you from accessing the learning support provided for you. Above all, take responsibility for your own learning.

For those of you who will be graduating this year, I take this opportunity to wish you the greatest of success. Remember that the final year impacts most significantly on your GPA. You will have an engineering degree that can take you along any career path you choose.

We wish you the greatest success for the 2010/2011 Academic Year.

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN THE FACULTY OF HUMANITIES & EDUCATION

The greatest challenge facing The University of the West Indies (UWI) today is the question of how to fund the enterprise. Our future can only be secure if and when we move towards financial viability and transform into a lean, flexible and robust knowledge industry. We cannot and must not continue business as usual.

As you join the cadre of our alumni, we hope that as soon as you begin to become economically self-sufficient, you will remember the university which prepared you for the world and, out of concern for our future, send some of the crumbs from your economic tables our way. While it is true, however, that a university can get a lot done with money, you do not have to help us solely through the giving of money. Your goodwill is equally important to us. A good word about the university, strategically dropped in the boardroom of your company or of any of the governments of the region, will go a long way in making sure that the right university-related policies emerge. Some of you may have parents with archival materials that they would like to give away. Persuade them to think of UWI and our excellent West Indian collections to which we are always happy to add any new finds.

A number of you will return to us either as graduate students or as members of our administrative staff. If you do come back, make sure it is with a determination to set right all the negative attributes of the institution that you had identified in your time here as undergraduates. If your journey takes you away from us, remember that you are our best ambassadors as well as our most valuable critics. Be frank in your criticism of us, dare us to become the best university we can become, that place to which you would always like to return, a place to which you will send your children and their children, by choice. You are part of the legacy of the University of the West Indies. Don't ever turn your back on it.

PROF. FUNSO AIYEJINA,

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN THE FACULTY OF MEDICAL SCIENCES

The Faculty salutes the Class of 2012. We recognize that we continue to produce graduates of the highest caliber and hope that our efforts to instill soundness in communication skills and in ethical values will bear fruit and that you will distinguish yourselves in the care of your patients during the years ahead. The Faculty acknowledges all your hard work over the years and your consequent successes. After the time that you have spent with us, I am confident that you are all better equipped to serve your communities and the countries which expect much of you, particularly since much investment has been made towards your educational pursuits.

I therefore urge you to use all that you have learnt to improve the world, ever mindful of the need to be both professional and ethical in whatever you do. In so doing, you will continue to make the Faculty and University proud and I look forward to your future contributions to the Alumni Association of the Faculty and the University, in the years to come.

On behalf of all the staff in the Faculty, I congratulate all of you on your achievements and wish you all success, as this is just the beginning of a long journey in your respective fields.

Congratulations again!

DR. SAMUEL RAMSEWAK

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN THE FACULTY OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

On behalf of the Faculty of Social Sciences I salute you, our graduating class of 2012, and recognize your accomplishments! This is truly a joyous occasion for all of you and we share in the splendour of your success.

Apart from the celebrations which come on an occasion such as this, graduation also represents the dawning of a new era in your life—a departure from a "comfort zone" you have been in for the past 3 to 4 years and your entry into a new phase, one filled with challenges and many uncertainties. The challenges you will undoubtedly encounter should never be seen as insurmountable. Rather, in confronting these trials and uncertainties, I exhort you to draw on the many skills you have garnered during your stay with us: the problem solving skills, the social skills, and the "I can do this if I put my mind to it" skills. You will find that regardless of the path you now choose, all of these skills will be used as you navigate through new and uncharted waters.

In the Faculty of Social Sciences we are pleased to have offered you a curriculum that not only provided a solid grounding in theory, but also one which incorporated some of the realities of the workplace through case studies, internships, study tours, workshops, mentorships, participation in various student clubs and the pursuit of co-curricular courses and programmes. The Workplace Protocol course provided the opportunity to learn about business etiquette and the development of emotional intelligence. All of these efforts converged to create the well-rounded, successful young women and men we celebrate as the graduating class of 2012!

As you contemplate the next phase of your professional life, some of you will opt for the challenges that lie in the corporate world. Others may choose to stay with us and pursue postgraduate studies. To those who elect to stay in academia, the Faculty offers a wide range of taught as well as research-based degree programmes. Our taught postgraduate and MSc programmes are aimed at helping you advance your professional career. The research degrees, the MPhil and PhD, provide you with the opportunity to contribute to the expansion of knowledge in your chosen discipline. All the Departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences - Behavioural Sciences, Economics and Management - offer prospective graduate students a suite of Postgraduate diplomas, MSc, MPhil and PhD degrees from which to choose. The University Institutes and Centres that are part of the Faculty of Social Sciences - the Sir Arthur Lewis Institute of Social and Economic Studies (SALISES), the Health Economics Unit (HEU) and the Institute of International Relations (UR) — also offer specialist graduate training.

In closing, I recall the words of Albert Einstein who said that "Learning is not a product of schooling but the lifelong attempt to acquire it". As you leave UWI, I encourage you to engage in lifelong learning as this is the only way to succeed in the dynamic, globalized environment in which we now live and work.

Once again, my heartiest congratulations to you and best wishes for success in all your future endeavours.

DR. HAMID A. GHANY
